COMING SOON: ALL NEW TRW NEXT GENERATION D-TEC DISC PADS!!

TRW is recognised globally for innovation and engineering excellence, bringing you OE matching quality aftermarket parts and Next Generation D-TEC is the natural progression for our Friction range. Next Generation D-TEC is perfectly in line with the Japanese original equipment material, enabling you to fit 'Like for Like' original equipment material across the range, with the added benefit of less dust and great performance!

WHY TRW NEXT GENERATION D-TEC??

All non asbestos pads create dust. The challenge is to reduce the dust while still providing great performance.

TRW engineers have undertaken extensive research and development to bring you a new, advanced technology, ceramic friction material which delivers significantly less dust along with the great performance when compared to other competitors ceramic technology pads.

What you need to know...

- OE Matching material
- Excellent resistance to fade and performance you can trust- from cold to hot braking situations TRW outperforms the competition
- Significantly less dust than conventional European OE formulations
